

Advance Notice
More Details to Follow

Friday, October 30, 2015
Washington, DC

Global Nexus: Transforming Governance and Security in the Red Sea & Horn of Africa

Further Information: Marketing@StrategicStudies.org. Or tel. US +1 (703) 548-1070, ISSA

- Yemen: 2 states? More? Riyadh's, Muscat's options?
- An Egypt-Ethiopia Axis on the Red Sea and Nile?
- Possible New Interaction Mechanisms between Ethiopia, Djibouti, and possibly Somaliland?
- Eritrea: Isolated, angry?
- China in Djibouti, Ethiopia, Kenya, Sudan, Pakistan... US/EU, Indian reaction.
- Iran's role in the region.
- And Much More

The Prospect for Improving Security, Stability, and Prosperity Through New Alliance and Confederal Structures

A one-day colloquium, by invitation only, to discuss key strategic factors on the global centrality of the Red Sea/Suez/Horn of Africa issues, including those of the Arabian Peninsula. How does the P5+1 Accord with Iran change the region? The transformation of alliance structures from the Atlantic to the Indian Ocean. And more.

Conference Chair: HH Prince Ermias Sahle-Selassie Haile-Selassie, Patron of the Water Initiative for Africa.

Keynote Speaker: Gregory Copley, President, The International Strategic Studies Association.

Organized by:

The International Strategic Studies Association
The Gusau Institute, and
The Water Initiative for Africa

